Trial: Darren Henry arrives at court and, inset, Oceana, the scene of the incident

Deadlinepix KT71675

STABBING TRIAL

Pair deny GBH after Oceana clubber stabbed five times

A clubber was stabbed five times inside Oceana while on a night out with friends, a court has heard.

Hoopang Wong, 25, and Darren Henry, 24, deny causing grievous bodily harm.

Their trial began at Kingston Crown Court on Thursday, November 1.

The court heard Karlos Frederick, who was on a night out with his friends at the club on May 20 this year, went up to the smoking area where he saw the defendants arguing.

Prosecutor in the case Mark

by CLARE BUCHANAN

cbuchanan@london.newsquest.co.uk

Stern told the court Mr Henry approached Mr Frederick first and then Mr Wong pulled out a knife, came at him, and repeatedly stabbed him.

He said: "It is said that Hoopang Wong repeatedly stabbed Karlos. All the while Darren Henry was in his face.

"In this case, although it was Mr Wong that did the stabbing, both defendants were plainly in it together as part of a joint enterprise."

Staff at the Clarence Street venue found Mr Frederick lying on his back, bleeding, at the top of the stairs after the attack.

He suffered three stab wounds to his right thigh, one to his left thigh and another in his arm pit.

The court heard the victim had surgery and stitches above his left eyebrow and has ongoing issues with feeling and movement in his legs.

Mr Stern told the court both the defendants were stopped as they attempted to leave the club and were arrested that night.

DNA from the victim was found on both defendants and a lock knife was found tucked into Mr Wong's waistband, the court heard.

Mr Wong admitted having the knife.

Mr Wong, of Byron Way, Middlesex, and Mr Henry, of Barmouth Avenue, Middlesex, deny a joint charge of wounding with intent to cause grievous bodily harm.

The trial continues.

Exhibition is a high flyer

Though Kingston has achieved much in its 1,174 years of recorded history, nothing transcends its unique contribution to aviation.

It played a key role in the birth of the British aircraft industry when Tom Sopwith founded his Sopwith Aviation Co in the town in 1912.

In the decades that followed it produced more than 44,000 aircraft, and became a centre of worldwide importance for innovative aeronautical design. And today, a century after Sopwith's arrival, Kingston-designed aircraft are still a vital component of armed forces all over the globe.

All this, plus the fact tens of thousands of Kingstonians were employed in the industry during its 80 years in the Royal borough – and there is scarcely a local family which was not associated with it in some way – makes the forthcoming exhibition at Kingston Museum of particular significance.

It will run from November 17 to January 12 and will, for the first time, tell the 100-year history of Kingston's aviation industry with paintings, sculpture, silverware and other artefacts.

David Hassard, who with Bill Downey is co-leader of the Hawker Association's Kingston Aviation Centenary Project, promises "a rare opportunity to learn more about Kingston's amazing aeronautical achievements, while enjoying many wonderful works of art by leading aviation artists".

Original paintings of Kingston-designed aircraft are being assembled from Brooklands Museum, BAE Systems Heritage, the Guild of Aviation Artists and other bodies and will, says Bill Downey, "be as rewarding for those interested in high quality works of art as it will be for aviation enthusiasts from far and wide".

It promises to be one of the most rewarding events of its kind ever seen in the royal borough.

Bill and David have achieved it with the backing of 80 volunteers, but still need a roster of volunteer stewards to be in the museum's art gallery over the 28 days of the exhibition.

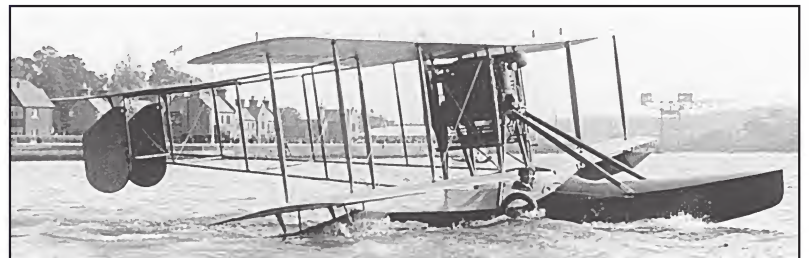

Anyone willing to take on half-day sessions can find out more via the contact section of the website kingstonaviation.org or by calling David Hassard on 020 8546 2715.

The organisers hope for combined visits to the exhibition by schools, clubs and local organisations of all kinds.

There will also be free afternoon slide shows on December 1 and January 12 exploring how artists have portrayed Kingston's Sopwith and Hawker aircraft in the past 200 years (seats booked in advance via Kingston Museum on 020 8547 5006).

Flying tonight: The centrepiece of the exhibition will be this painting by Martin Alton of the 1935 prototype Hawker Hurricane flying over Kingston in 1945

Plane sailing: A Sopwith Bat Boat, the first aircraft built in Kingston

Sea Hawk: A painting by Mark Bromley

'Not unhappy' with top cop merger

The London Assembly member for Kingston has said he is comfortable with a potential police merger between Richmond and Kingston.

Tony Arbour, Assembly member for London South West, said he was not unhappy about the proposals and said the existing working relationship between Kingston and Richmond would help.

He said: "I am extremely conscious that each borough, as far as policing is concerned, should retain its own identity.

"The only obvious thing people will notice is their chief officer is unlikely to be chief superintendent."

The Metropolitan Police have defended the decision to merge Kingston and Richmond's most senior policing roles, claiming the capital is relatively top heavy compared with the rest of the country.

Comfortable with merger: Tony Arbour

At a meeting at New Scotland Yard on Monday, October 29, deputy commissioner Craig Mackey and deputy assistant commissioner Mark Simmons briefed the press on the Met's plans to cut costs.

On October 30, Mr Mackey was questioned at the Mayor's Office for Policing and Crime on future plans for the force.

The plans have been put forward in a bid to cut £500m from policing budget by 2015.

Mr Mackey said: "We are looking at things around our structure management ratio. There are more senior officers and staff to constables than comparable constabularies in England and Wales."

Alongside the cuts to senior staff, police plan to increase the number of constables by 1,000 to a total of 25,000.

They also want to move 2,000 officers from back-room roles on to the streets while keeping the Met's total strength at about 32,000.

Woman foils fake police officers

A mother sniffed out a fake police officer with a pretend search warrant after she smelled alcohol on his breath.

Christine John, 59, of Egmont Road in New Malden, has lived at the address for nearly 30 years and is now scared to open her front door.

On October 10, just before 10pm, three men knocked on her door and forced their way into her home.

Mrs John said: "I found myself being pushed in and a man walked in shouting

by NAZIA DEWJI

ndewji@london.newsquest.co.uk

'Police, I have a warrant to search these premises'.

"I was shocked. I asked to see the warrant. I could smell alcohol on his breath.

"I thought it was my son on his way back at first, which is why I opened the door. I wish I had not. It was quite shocking to have somebody push you into your own house and claim to be police."

The Malden Emergency First Aid Society trainer also noticed two other men in normal clothes waiting to come in.

She said: "I started shouting at them to get out. I called to my partner to come downstairs. That appeared to worry the other men, but the leader said 'Come on, let's do it'. They decided to leave while I was phoning 999."

Police came to the house after the incident and took fingerprints.

But they closed the case after Mrs John was unable to identify the trespassers from photographs of some known criminals.

She said: "The police just closed the case. What if they are new people who have not been in trouble with the police before? They would never catch them, would they?"

"I avoid opening the door now.

"I am very concerned. The street is just not the same anymore. With Beverley Park nearby we just do not know what is going on outside in the dark."

Mrs John is now looking into putting up a CCTV camera at the front of her home.

Having a blast: Crowds take trip to light fantastic

Families across the borough celebrated Bonfire Night with fireworks displays that lit up the skies.

Kingston Round Table and Kingston Rotary Club put on a dazzling display of lights to James Bond themed music at the Kingsmeadow Stadium.

More than 4,000 visitors also enjoyed a funfair and food stalls at the event on Friday.

Alan Stevenson, chairman of the firework committee, said the weather conditions were ideal with a crisp clear and windless sky.

He said: "My team, drawn from both clubs, were exceptionally pleased with how the evening went.

"I would like to thank the 60 unpaid volunteer stewards for their help in making this a safe family 'we're for communities' event."

A time to remember the Fallen

War veterans, children and adults will gather to stand in silence on Sunday and lay wreaths of poppies to remember the sacrifices made by servicemen and women in the two world wars and other conflicts.

Remembrance Sunday Services will take place in New Malden, Kingston, Surbiton and Chessington to mark Armistice Day, which is the anniversary of the end of the First World War.

For a full list of services see kingstonguardian.co.uk.

□ The Honour the Fallen campaign, run by the Surrey Comet, raced to restore a vandalised war memorial at St John the Baptist Church in time for Remembrance Sunday last year.

Generous readers donated more than £3,000 when the church feared they would have to cancel the annual commemoration after lead thieves toppled the Old Malden monument in September 2011.

Cop jailed for lying to sex abuse victims

by DAVID LINDSELL

d.lindsell@london.newsquest.co.uk

A Kingston police officer who lied to rape victims, letting suspects off the hook, has been sentenced to 16 months in prison.

Detective Constable Ryan Coleman-Farrow, 30, was based at Kingston police station as part of the sexual offences detection unit Sapphire between January 2007 and September 2010.

His lies were revealed after a woman killed herself in a flat in Putney, but left a note saying a Kingston police harassment investigation, led by Coleman-Farrow, had let her down.

Coleman-Farrow was jailed last week at Southwark Crown Court, which heard the 13 victims he let down included a 96-year-old woman and a care home resident with brain damage who said she was raped by a staff member.

Two 15-year-old girls, a 14-year-old boy, and a patient at a unit for sexual abuse victims were also lied to by him, the court heard.

Coleman-Farrow pleaded guilty to 13 counts of misconduct in public office at a hearing in September.

He told senior officers that rape victims had dropped their allegations while telling them that their cases were being shelved.

He faked 32 crime reports, all of which have been reinvestigated since, falsified a witness statement, pretended he had interviewed rape suspects three times and made up suspect statements three times.

The detective also told his superiors he had passed files to the Crown Prosecution Service seven times when he had not.

He was sacked in April 2011.

He also told investigators trying to unravel his lies that he had a serious medical condition.

Independent Police Complaints Commission (IPCC) deputy chairwoman Deborah Glass said Coleman-Farrow had shown a catalogue of wilful failings towards vulnerable people whose faith he had abused.

She said: "We may never understand the motives for Coleman-Farrow's actions."

"He was a rogue officer who deceived his colleagues and concocted evidence to cover his tracks."

Mother's grief for son found floating in sea

The mother of a missing yachtsman has spoken of her anguish after her son's body was found floating in the English Channel.

Police found the body of Hany Nabil Mustapha, 46, floating by the Isle of Wight last Friday.

Mr Mustapha, who lived in Worcester Park with his family but grew up in New Malden, had been missing since Saturday, October 27, the day after his birthday.

His mother Laila, 77, said: "We heard the news.

"The policeman came and he said that they found his body floating at 1pm at the Isle of Wight.

"They're 95 per cent sure it's him but they still have to do the fingerprints and make sure that it is.

"We can't do anything now. We are all distraught. I can't accept it. I can't believe it.

"I can't take it. He's my son.

"The house is full of people trying to comfort me. But there is no comfort."

His 19-year-old daughter Nadia, had set up a website to continue the search for her father.

His father Nabil Mustapha, 81, told the Kingston Guardian he had accepted the inevitable after coastguards called off the search.

He said: "He was my only son. I just can't describe how I feel."

"He was a successful man - self made. He was outgoing. He played golf, cricket, cycled to work and was a member of Thames Motor Yacht Club.

"He was loved by a lot of people."

The search operation for the former Tiffin School pupil had included helicopters, lifeboats and broadcasts to other vessels, but was called off after 22 hours.

Mr Mustapha had celebrated his birthday the night before with his wife Liz and family at the Emperor, a Chinese restaurant in Stonecot Hill, North Cheam.

He then took the last train to Poole, where as a member of Thames Motor Yacht Club at Hampton Court, he intended to sail to Hayling Island, near Portsmouth.

Oil hole spells black day for pet dog Toto

Environmental problem: Sheila Granger and Colin Cowie by the oily hole in Surbiton

Deadline: KT71573

When you take your dog for a walk you might expect to be forced into a post-morning clean-up operation.

But spare a thought for Toto, a five-year-old Cairn terrier, who fell into a small oil pit.

He emerged from bushes covered in oil after chasing a squirrel when he was on a walk near Raeburn Avenue, Surbiton, on Thursday, October 25.

Several other dogs may have fallen down the same hole that has been left unblocked for years.

Owner Colin Cowie said: "I was really worried."

"It was a really strong smell and when I put my hands on him and realised it was oil it was a worrying thing."

"It's not a nice substance and he tried to lick himself."

The 62-year-old engineer from Kingston returned to the wooded area the next day to find out where the oil came from, and discovered a 6ft-long and 2ft-deep pit of the liquid.

Sheila Granger owns four large white samoyed dogs and said two of them fell

by CLARE BUCHANAN

cbuchanan@london.newsquest.co.uk

headfirst into a pit in the same place three years ago.

Mrs Granger said one of the dogs died from cancer two years after the incident.

She said: "I just assumed it had been cleared up after I reported it."

"To hear it is back or still there I feel very angry."

An Environment Agency spokesman said it investigated the incident three years ago and found an oil and water mix that suggested an oil drum had been stored there, leaked and was then removed.

He said: "We investigated to find the source."

"However, the neighbouring sites showed no evidence of being the cause."

"Now we have been made aware that this has occurred again we will investigate further to find the source and take appropriate action."

Mr Cowie said the area used to be a favourite walking spot but the enjoyment had been ruined as he now has to keep Toto on a lead.

Your say on new school

Parents have the opportunity to find out more about a free school proposal at a series of meetings.

Kingston Educational Trust (KET) will submit plans for a six form of entry, co-educational, non-selective secondary school on the North Kingston Centre site to open by September 2015.

KET was quizzed by parents when it first went public with the plans at a meeting on October 11.

The meetings will each start at 7pm and will include a presentation and a question and answer session.

They will be held on November 13 at Fern Hill Primary School, November 15 at Alexandra Infants' School, November 19 at St Paul's Junior School, November 21 at St Agatha's Catholic Primary School and November 28 at St Luke's Primary School.

"My older brother came to Capel Manor to study Arboriculture and we thought we'd set up a Tree and Garden company once I'd qualified in Horticulture. I could never sit in an office so staying on at school wasn't an option for me. Capel Manor is the ideal place to learn to become a gardener, you get to work on the gardens throughout the seasons and with lots of different tools and machinery as there's a wide variety of work to be done. Thanks to the apprenticeship scheme I now have a whole career mapped out."

Bringing Change Home

Mum returned home to find son hanged

A talented Chessington footballer was found hanged in his garage by his mother, an inquest heard.

Sean Geary had told his mother he would not be going to college because he felt unwell.

When she returned to their home in Priory Crescent, Cheam, after work on February 8 last year, she looked for the popular 17-year-old.

Reading the evidence of PC Don Williams, Coroner Roy Palmer said: "She [Sean's mother] said she went into the kitchen and could see a light flickering in the garage through the door, and she thought it was the television. "She said she thought she would find Sean in there because he sometimes played his Xbox in there.

"When she entered the garage the television was on but she couldn't see Sean. She went to turn off the television and when she turned her back to switch the light on she saw him hanging from the roof beam."

An investigation by police determined that there were no suspicious circumstances about Sean's death and no note explaining his actions was found.

An autopsy carried out by Dr Peter Wilkins found a ligature

by HANNAH WILLIAMSON

around Sean's neck and gave the cause of death as carotid body compression.

Sean had trained as a footballer with AFC Wimbledon and signed in September 2010 to play for Chessington and Hook United.

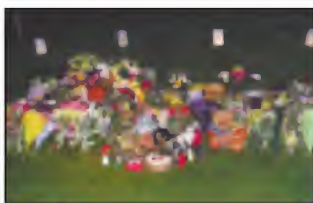

The former Cheam High School and Cheam Fields Primary School pupil had made his debut for Chessington and Hook's reserve team just three days before he died.

More than 1,700 people joined a Facebook tribute page in memory of the trainee electrician in the weeks after his death.

Dozens of his friends also held a four-day vigil outside his house.

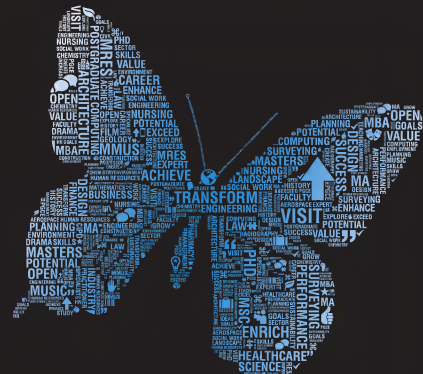

Returning an open verdict, Dr Palmer told the teenager's uncle and aunt, who attended the inquest at Bromley Civic Centre: "There was no note so I have nothing to help me, though I have no evidence it was an accident."

"On the evidence I have, I am not satisfied he intended to end his life, so I will return an open verdict. I am extremely sorry that you lost Sean in such sad circumstances."

Driver fined for leaving van for 'a few seconds'

by CLARE BUCHANAN

cbuchanan@london.newsquest.co.uk

A furniture maker was fined for leaving his van for a few seconds while he moved a rubbish bag dumped in his driveway.

Kevin Hyams said he was forced to park his Volkswagen Transporter van on the side of Hook Road, Hook, while he moved the rubbish or he would have blocked the road.

In the few seconds the 50-year-old took to move the rubbish his van was spotted by a Kingston Council camera car, designed to catch out errand drivers, and he received a £55 fine.

The furniture manufacturer applied to the council to have the fine lifted because he felt he had acted in the safest way possible given the situation, but his appeal was turned down on Friday, October 26.

He said: "I am not sure what else I could have sensibly done."

"If I had stopped with all four wheels on the road it would have caused an obstruction to the traffic. It's ridiculous."

Mr Hyams said he always reversed into his drive with no problem and because he carries the tools of his trade in his van he would not have left the door open if it was for more than a few seconds or if he could not see the van.

He said: "I was gone seconds. The van door was still open."

"They are just not giving the small person anything."

Mr Hyams said he has now paid the fine for the incident, which happened on September 10, because he could not spare the time or money it would take to appeal the case further.

A council spokesman said: "The council cannot discuss a PCN case without written permission to do so from the vehicle owner."

More cash for hospital

Kingston Hospital will receive more private money after a cap on the number of paying patients income was lifted.

According to Kingston Hospital board papers the private patient income cap has been lifted from 1 per cent to 49 per cent. The move will allow the trust to compete with the private sector for extra money from non-NHS services, as well as from the hospital's own private unit, the Coombe wing run by BMI.

The Coombe wing is on the seventh floor of the Esher wing on the Galsworthy Road site and has 22 individual rooms for inpatients and day case patients as well as a dedicated outpatients department.

The board papers said the hospital was working on ways to expand its partnership with BMI.

Scouting for donations

Scouts have been out collecting money for the British Legion Poppy Appeal.

The scouts, from the Titan Explorer Unit, chose the cause as part of their service

The scouts will be at St John the Baptist Church, in Old Malden, for the Remembrance Sunday service on November 11.

Raising funds for charity: The proceeds will be used to build classrooms in Tanzania

Charity Xmas single singing out for Africa

by MICHELE BACCHUS

newsdesk@kingstonguardian.co.uk

A Christmas single in aid of charity will be launched in November by two Chessington artists.

Mutt Ley, a Maltese musician and his wife Gia, a singer and vocal coach, aim to raise money for You Touch Africa to build six classrooms in Kiraracha, Tanzania.

The charity was co-founded by a priest from their parish church Our Lady Immaculate in Tolworth and aims to help the villagers, mostly Fair Trade farmers.

Christmas Time is sung by the Angelpop choir, a group set up by

Christmas Time: The single the couple, and includes their own children Paige, five, and Willow, three, and 36 other young singers.

Gia said they wanted to help the children see the greater meaning of Christmas and was very pleased with the effort they had all put in.

She said: "Christmas is not all about the gifts, but is also about sharing and giving to people in need. That was really important to us."

"In August we started vocal coaching the children and recorded the single in October."

The song will be launched on November 16 on iTunes and the CD single can be bought for a minimum donation of £5 from the church bazaar.

Don't need more expensive homes – we need a school

Re: Latchmere prison. Whoever in the Ministry of Justice ordered the sale of the site to the highest bidder regardless of the needs and wishes of the community, acted without a shred of the democracy that the Government prides itself on showing the electorate.

As a result, the highest price will be obtained from a large construction company bent on an estate of houses and apartments to be sold at the highest price. We might just as well stop having any further consultations and all go home.

As was shown last year, and the meetings are on record, what this locality needs are more schools, and secondary in particular, to satisfy the ever growing young community, which we have in Richmond and Kingston boroughs.

The objections about extra traffic are fatuous as 200 more dwellings will bring in 400 more vehicles anyway, whereas school children arrive at school after 8.30am and have gone by 3.30pm, well before the working population returns home and are not present at all at the weekend and during holiday time.

It is clear that the sticking point of this development, whatever is agreed, is "access". Nobody wants those huge construction vehicles passing through their back yard.

In relation to access, the added complication is that the owners of Bainbridge Close properties negotiated the purchase of the slip road from Church Road to the gates of the close about four years ago from the developer Michael Shanly. This potentially seals off the Church Road access to the site at that point.

If Michael Gove, the high profile Education Secretary, is concerned about the cost of a beautiful new school he could always ask the Ministry of Justice to hand over the land at no cost. Justice would thereby "be seen to be done".

After all, what would the Ministry of Justice do with £60m?

Town not dangerous, but is full of drunks

Full marks to Councillor Geoff Austin and his colleagues for opting to experience the delights of Kingston town centre by night as reported in your newspaper.

However, his confident assertion that all appears to be well did not sit easily with, in the same edition, the front page about a clubber stabbed to death and [another story in the same issue] about fights that forced a club to close early.

Having lived in the town centre for 12 years my considered view is that the area is rarely genuinely dangerous by night (provided one steers clear of the clubs), but is frequently ruined by rowdy, drunken behaviour, which is very intimidating, especially to the elderly.

This behaviour is unacceptable, but I am not convinced that our council tries hard enough to police/regulate it.

Do any of our councillors live in the town centre, I wonder?

Hope council sees the light on energy consumption

The public consultation on the street lights in Surbiton fails to deal with the question of the lights themselves, rather than just the style of the columns.

The consultation documents say the council has considered the type of lighting (the "light bulbs") and has decided that the lights themselves are of the most cost effective type. However, they have failed to take account of recent improvements in lighting technology, which could greatly reduce the overall cost and sustainability of the lights.

The council has not considered modern induction lights, which consume less energy, and are thus much cheaper to run than the proposed lights, and each light unit lasts perhaps four times as long as the existing ones, thus greatly reducing the maintenance costs of the lighting.

I hope the council looks again at its proposals and tries to reduce the lifetime costs of the lighting, and at the same time reduce the energy consumption of the lights.

Councillors could also consider applying the same principles throughout the rest of the borough as part of their green agenda.

My views on motorway were proved correct

I recall when there was an inquiry about the construction of the M25 with a junction near Leatherhead no one was interested.

I was a Labour councillor at the time and went to the hearing on the proposals.

I was interested in John Kelsey's letter (In need of a crossing, November 1) as my views of the proposal have now been proved correct.

Valued sniffer on the wards

by MICHELE BACCHUS

newsdesk@kingstonguardian.co.uk

A police dog who once spent his days in pursuit of criminal drug dealers now protects patients, doctors and nurses at Tolworth Hospital.

Paddy, a five-year-old springer spaniel, has helped to bring down incidents of illicit drug use by more than 90 per cent on wards at Tolworth in the past 12 months.

He has found drugs paraphernalia such as empty wraps – small containers for drugs – and small quantities of marijuana.

Paddy can detect traces of drugs in containers even after the drugs have been removed.

He lives with his handler Julie Traynor in Banstead and is the first and only drug search dog in the NHS, working with South West London and St George's Mental Health Trust, which runs Tolworth, and Springfield hospital in Tooting.

Metropolitan Police Inspector Alan Goodall said: "Searching with Paddy is the most transparent and least disruptive method of searching for drugs."

Maria Huk, director of mental health nursing for the trust, said: "Paddy has become a valuable part of our drugs control strategy."

A spokeswoman for the organisation said: "The other thing he finds is medication where patients may have stockpiled it and not taken it."

Since the searches started in May 2010, incidents of violence against staff have also dropped to their lowest level in five years, which staff said was down to the dog.

Paddy also visits the older people's services on a purely therapeutic basis.

11 men grow a mo

Probation officers are among the hundreds of men who will take up the challenge of growing a moustache from scratch this month to raise money for charity.

A team of 11 from London Probation Trust Kingston and Richmond will let their top lips lapse for Movember to raise money for testicular and prostate cancer.

The group call themselves the Kingston Lip Warmers and hope to raise more than £1,000.

Robert Kedge, an administrator, dubbed captain of the group after organising the fundraising challenge, said: "After skipping a year I thought it was time to give it another go, but wanted to make it bigger and better, so have cajoled a larger team of colleagues."

The 11 fundraisers work at London Probation Trust's Kingston and Richmond delivery unit, some in Kingston Crown Court.

The group includes six probation officers, three administrators, one housing advice worker and a victim liaison officer.

To back the group, visit uk.movember.com and search for Kingston Lip Warmers.

Now in its ninth year, the Movember Foundation charity runs Movember events to raise awareness of men's health issues, having started in Australia and New Zealand in 2004.

Flower power: Julia Hayes, two, gets stuck in

A thousand daffodil bulbs have been laid in Kingston as a lasting reminder of the Queen's diamond jubilee.

The plant beds along Tudor Drive were created by the Tudor Area Residents' Association Kingston.

The youngest member of the team was two-year-old Julia Hayes, whose grandmother Susan Hayes came up with the idea.

Kingston councillors and staff from Quadron, the organisation that looks after all the grounds in the borough, also helped with the planting of the 1,500 bulbs.

Money came from a grant of £300, that was given to the group earlier this year by the Kingston town neighbourhood committee.

Drug charity on the move

by NAZIA DEWJI

ndewji@london.newsquest.co.uk

The iconic office of a drug and alcohol charity could be turned into a residential block after GPs decided to hand the new mental health and substance misuse service back to NHS providers.

Addaction, based inside the Kaleidoscope building in Cromwell Road, was unsuccessful in a tender for the new contract. Kingston Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) has announced that Central and North West London NHS Foundation Trust and Camden and Islington NHS Foundation Trust will be delivering the new mental health and substance misuse service from January 2013.

Martin Blakeborough, chief executive at Kaleidoscope, said: "We are still in discussions about what to do with the building but we are looking at residential services."

"We might be helping with residential services for vulnerable people such as elderly people or drug users – any of our care groups."

Dr Naz Jivani, chairman of Kingston CCG, said: "The new wellbeing service will make it easier for patients to get the treatment they need, and recognises that by treating conditions collectively we can get better results."

But Mr Blakeborough, who campaigned for better services for drug and alcohol users throughout Kaleidoscope's existence since the 1960s, disagreed.

He said: "If the NHS had done its job in the first place we would not have existed. A national charity moved out of Kingston because it did not get the right support from the borough or the PCT. The NHS service was abysmal so taking it from another part of London now makes no sense."

Bryan Kusick, service manager at Addaction in Kingston, said: "Addaction only took over in April 2011 so we are sad about losing the contract. It is a great loss of a voluntary organisation but it is the choice of the client. We don't know yet what is going to happen to our staff."

A spokesman from Kingston CCG said: "No small groups lost out as a result of the tendering process. All of the third sector substance misuse services are national organisations."

An update on your local NHS

Welcome to the latest update from the Kingston Clinical Commissioning Group. I am Dr Naz Jivani and I am the Chair of the group, which is made up of the GP practices in the borough.

We've come together to try out a new way of commissioning services for local people. The idea is that we can use our clinical knowledge and our relationship with patients to improve local services.

If approved, from April 2013 we will officially take over responsibility for the commissioning of hospital, mental health and community services, while a new body called the National Commissioning Board will commission doctors, dentists, pharmacists and opticians. Primary Care Trusts will be phased out in April 2013, although continue to formally sign off decisions until then.

We want to make sure that your views can influence the decisions we make, and we're interested in hearing how we can involve you. Please contact me using the contact details below if you have any suggestions, or other feedback regarding local health services. In the meantime, I hope you find this supplement useful. It includes some tips on how to stay well in the cold weather.

GP and chair of the Kingston CCG, Dr Naz Jivani, provides tips on staying well this winter.

There are many things you can do to take care of yourself this winter, particularly if you are elderly or have a respiratory condition such as chronic obstructive pulmonary disease or a long term condition.

Ten tips for staying well this winter:

- 1 There are many alternatives to A&E if you need care urgently. Download a guide to urgent care services from our website or contact us if you would like a copy in the post.
- 2 Common illnesses and accidents can be treated at home, so make sure your medicine cabinet is equipped with over the counter remedies.
- 3 Remember you can always ask a local pharmacist for health advice.
- 4 Get an appointment with your GP if your pharmacy can't help. If your GP practice is closed you can contact the GP out-of-hours service between the hours of 6.30pm and 8am or at weekends and bank holidays on 0845 601 0909.
- 5 Take up your offer of a flu vaccination if invited by your GP. Some people are more at risk of complications if they catch flu or a serious cold such as those with respiratory conditions.
- 6 Talk to your GP about emergency medication during the holiday period. Some GP practices may close during the holiday period, so it is important that you have enough medication to see you through this time.
- 7 Take extra care when going out in icy conditions. For the over 65s, falling is one of the most frequent incidents due to icy roads and dark nights.
- 8 Wear extra layers to keep warm when going out and make sure you have suitable shoes for icy roads.
- 9 Be aware of others such as elderly neighbours who may be unable to get out at all during bad weather.
- 10 For more serious injuries and health conditions contact Accident and Emergency on 999.

KINGSTON CCG PATIENT FORUM

In response to feedback we have created a Kingston CCG patient forum for patients to give us their views and ideas on their local health services.

We held the first patient forum on 9 October at the Kingston Guildhall. The next patient forum will be held on Tuesday 22 January 2013 from 7-9pm in the Queen Anne Suite, Guildhall, High Street, Kingston KT1 1EU

WHEN FOLK meets funk

A crazy mix of street and traditional English folk dancing takes centre stage for a new musical coming to the Rose Theatre, writes Nazia Dewji.

Combining B-boying, popping and krump with more time-honoured moves, the Lock In sets out to do for morris dancing what Riverdance did for Irish dance.

A clash of cultures turns into a dance-off when a group of street movers head to an after-hours boozier to take on the morris dancing locals.

The skill, speed and athleticism of the dancers on both sides soon wins over their counterparts, bringing old and new together to create an exciting new dance-off.

The show is the brainchild of the Demon Barbers, winners of BBC Radio Folk Award's Best Live Act 2009, and features current UK female beatbox champion Grace Savage and percussion by BBC Young Musician of the Year 2006, Toby Kearney.

Damien Barber, founder of the Demon Barbers, said the Lock In is the most exciting project he has worked on.

He says: "I've always seen folk music and dance as an incredibly modern and vibrant living tradition and wanted to find a way to bring that vision to the widest possible audience."

"The Lock In is the result of several years of artistic collaborations and development and I'm extremely excited it's finally touring."

The dance moves are eclectic, the music even more so, with English folk taken on a high octane musical journey finding unlikely friendships in hip-hop, house, funk and ska.

Barber says: "The response has been phenomenal from both folkies and street dance fans."

"All our dancers have also taken the opportunity to learn from each other and have been amazed by the similarities and shared experiences they found in the two – seemingly very different – dance styles."

Landlords warned not to set rents too high

Tenants turned off by over-priced property say agents

Landlords need to be realistic about the rent they set if they want to let their property quickly.

That's the advice from Leaders letting agents in Surbiton which says even though there is strong demand to rent property, tenants will not consider over-priced property, no matter how well it is presented.

Branch manager Sean Hulbert said: "Landlords need to be aware that in the market we have at the moment, where there are not enough rental properties available to fulfil demand, some agents are unfortunately resorting to tactics such as overvaluing the rent of properties in order to obtain instructions. But just like in the sales market, overvaluing a property can property@london.newsquest.co.uk have very negative consequences.

"A property that is priced too high will not attract enquiries from tenants and is likely to remain empty, costing the landlord hundreds in lost rent. Despite strong demand, tenants are very cost-conscious in these difficult economic times and will not be willing to consider an over-priced property.

"Recently we have encountered a number of landlords who have been trying for some time to let their property at a rent that has been set too high by their agent. As soon as we have helped them set an accurate rent we have been able to find them suitable tenants very quickly indeed, in some cases within 24 hours."

Leaders point out that over-priced properties can quickly become 'stale' as many of the property portals allow prospective tenants to filter their search so they only see brand new or recently available properties. If a property is not letting it then becomes necessary to reduce the price, which only encourages further negotiation on the rent from prospective tenants keen to save money wherever they can.

"It is far better to set the rent realistically from the start," says Sean. "We would never overvalue a property just to gain the landlord's instruction because we are fully aware how costly void periods are and is not in our landlords' best interests to do so.

"With demand very strong for good quality flats and houses in Surbiton and across the Surrey area, rental properties presented in the right way and at the right price will be snapped up quickly.

"If you have a property that is not letting we will be able to tell you why and help you find the solution. It is important to only rely on an experienced letting specialist to help you set the right rent for your property for its location, type and condition, and you should never rely on the advice of the agent selling you the property."

Sean Hulbert, senior branch manager of Leaders in Surbiton has been named as the company's branch manager of the year in its annual competition.

His success comes after the Surbiton branch won the most improved branch award last year, an award which is given to the team that have worked hardest to improve the service they provide and their overall success in the marketplace.

Leaders' Surrey regional director Allison Thompson, said: "Sean has been managing our Surbiton branch for three years and during that time has shown a real passion for the business and an inspirational leadership style. He has developed his team so that everyone works effectively together to provide an exceptional service to our landlords and tenants."

Conditions of acceptance of advertisements

General

1. The following conditions apply to the placing of an order for insertion of advertisements in Newsquest Media Group ("Newsquest") printed or electronic publications. Each order will form a separate agreement and English law will apply. Any change to these conditions must be agreed by us in writing (which means by exchange of letter, fax or email). An "advertiser" means any person or organisation placing an advertisement on their own account or on behalf of another.

Contents

2. The advertiser confirms that the advertisement complies with all applicable legislation, regulations and codes of practice, including the codes supervised by the Advertising Standards Authority. We may reject or require changes to any advertisement so as to comply with legal or moral obligations placed on us or the advertiser; to avoid infringing the rights of a third party or any relevant code of practice; and to meet our published production and quality specifications.

3. The advertiser further confirms that:
i) the publication of the advertisement will not breach any contract, infringe the copyright, trademark or other right of any third party and is not libelous of any person;
ii) all licences and consents from third parties necessary for the publication of the advertisement have been obtained and paid for, including consent from living persons identified in copy or pictures (photographic or otherwise);
iii) in respect of an investment advertisement, the contents have been approved by, or the advertiser is, and authorised person within the meaning of the Financial Services Act 1986 as amended or the advertisement is otherwise permitted under that Act.

Payment

4. All advertisements must be paid for in full at the time of booking unless credit has been agreed. The price shall be the amount fixed by our published rate card on the date of acceptance of the order plus VAT where applicable. For non-credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of an advertisement that has not been paid for on time. For credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of any future advertisements if payment is not made in accordance with our payment terms. For credit advertisers, interest will be charged on late payments at the rate of 3% above the Bank of England's base lending rate from the date payment is due together with the administration costs of collecting an overdue debt.
5. By placing an order with us, an advertising agency confirms that it contracts as principal with full authority from its client in all matters connected with the order and is responsible for all payments due.
We will only accept advertisements from advertising agencies if they are recognised by us.
6. We will try to give notice of increases, but we reserve the right to change our advertising rates at any time. This will not affect contracts, including any fixed term agreement for a series of advertisements.

Box numbers

7. We will use reasonable efforts to forward replies to box numbers within a reasonable time, but we are not responsible for any failure or delay caused by circumstances beyond our reasonable control, or for any losses relating to an advertiser's business or any loss that is not reasonably foreseeable by both parties.

Cancellation

8. We will notify the advertiser of the latest time that orders can be cancelled (the "booking" deadline) and the latest time that advertising copy can be received by us ("the copy deadline"). An advertiser may cancel up until copy deadline and we will make reasonable efforts to re-sell the space, but the advertiser will be liable for the full price if the space is not sold and we will reclaim any unearned volume-based discount. Private advertisers booking by telephone or online may cancel in accordance with relevant law, but no refund shall be available after the copy deadline unless cancellation is due to our negligence. If the copy is not received by the copy deadline, we will not be liable if the advertisement does not appear, but the advertiser will remain liable to make full payment for the price of the advertisement.
9. We will try to satisfy an advertiser's request regarding the positioning of an advertisement, but no guarantee of position can be given unless agreed by us and paid for at the rate then current.

Errors

10. We are not liable for any error, misprint or non-appearance of an advertisement unless caused by our negligence, in which case the advertiser will be entitled to a re-insertion or proportionate refund.
The advertiser is solely responsible for checking the advertisement on each insertion and ordering correction where necessary. Except where we have been negligent, we shall not be liable for an error or misprint that, in our reasonable opinion, does not materially detract from the advertisement. We shall not be liable in any case for losses relating to any business or public fund-raising for the advertiser, such as lost customers, revenue or profit.

Copyright

11. Advertisements are accepted on condition that we have the right to publish them online as well as in any booked titles. The copyright in work or material we contribute to or re-work for an advertisement belongs to us. We will dispose of advertiser's copy, artwork, photographs or other materials after six months unless collected.

General

12. We shall not be liable if our publishing activities are restricted or prevented by any law, act or event beyond our reasonable control (including, for example, industrial dispute). In such case, the advertiser shall accept publication when available or otherwise may cancel the order by written notice and pay only for work done and materials used.
13. We will use the advertiser's details for internal administration. Unless the advertiser tells us not to in writing at any time, we may also share details with other Newsquest companies or with carefully selected third parties, who may send information about goods and services.
14. The advertiser will be liable to pay us for all costs, losses, expenses and damages of any kind suffered or incurred by us as a result of legal claims or actions, actual or threatened, arising from the advertiser's breach of these conditions or the publications of the advertisement, unless caused by our own negligent act or failure.
15. We may cancel the order at any time if the advertiser breaches these conditions and the breach is not capable of remedy or it continues for seven days after we have given written notice of it, or if we reasonably believe the advertiser is unable to pay debts or the advertiser goes or threatens to go out of business.

Which classic car will be crowned?

One of the 'fab five' will get top accolade at motor show

The countdown is on to find out which motor is crowned Classic Car of the Year 2012, with the five finalists heading to the Classic Motor Show at Birmingham's NEC this month, where the ultimate winner will be revealed.

With three cars from the 1930s battling it out with one from the swinging sixties and one from the seventies, it's set to be a closely run event, as each car (and its owner) has a story to tell.

Oldest car in the 'fabulous five' is a 1931 Austin Seven called Crusty. With its owner, Buckinghamshire-based Chris Parkhurst, Crusty has travelled across the Andes and travelled through much of South America. It has also been driven to China and, nearer to home, across Europe.

Next up is the 1934 Jowett Long Saloon, owned by Alan Bartlett.

Alan, from Somerset, now owns the car that has been in the family since 1935, originally being bought by Alan's great-grandfather. It has been partly restored and has now covered 400,000 miles!

Last of the 1930s trio is a 1938 Morris 25 Series III, owned by Martin Redmond from Bedfordshire.

Martin bought 'Stanley' in 2009 with the intention of doing a long-distance journey and in 2012 the car drove across Europe and Asia to Vladivostok in eight weeks, after which it was shipped to the USA and drove across the country in four weeks.

1934 Jowett Long Saloon

Keith Clements from Essex owns the 1960s entry – a 1965 Aston Martin DB5. Bought with his son in 2005, 40 years after he saw Goldfinger, the dream was nearly shattered when a drunk driver collided with the car. The father and son team restored the car, finishing the day it was driven to Italy for Keith's son's wedding.

Completing the top five (and continuing the British car-making theme) is a 1972 Bristol 411, belonging to Cambridge's Richard Phillips. Bought in the run-up to his 50th birthday as a restoration project, the car was completed in time for Richard's half-century, when it was driven to Amsterdam.

The winner of this nationwide competition, organised by Classic Car Weekly, Classic Cars and Practical Classics magazines in association with Lancaster Insurance, will receive a fantastic first prize valued at over £3,500 with over £700 worth of runners-up prizes up for grabs.

The public has been voting for its favourite from a shortlist of 20 cars selected by an expert judging panel.

The five finalists will be on display at the Classic Motor Show at Birmingham's NEC from November 16-18 where the overall winner with the most votes will be revealed, and the grand prize awarded.

For more details on the finalists, visit ccoty.co.uk.

Double time for Penney

Former Kingston Grammar School pupil Alexander Penney was on target again for Surbiton in their 2-2 MHL Premier Division home draw against Reading on Saturday, writes Sean Cotter.

The 25-year-old ex-Teddington youngster scored twice from penalty corners to add to the six set pieces he converted in last week's EHB Cup win against Isca.

It took his goal tally to 13 from seven games for the division's bottom-club and the City-based accountant revealed the simple secret of his success.

Brace: Alex Penney, right, against Reading
Nick Levy

"It's helpful to be back practicing set pieces full-time with the team after missing quite a few training sessions so far this season because of revising for and taking my accountancy exams," he said, ahead of Sunday's trip to Hampstead & Westminster.

● Surbiton Ladies' Hannah Bowe, Hannah Coulson, and Natalie Maclean are set to line-up against former club Slough in the Women's Hockey League Premier Division at Sugden Road on Saturday.

Blues are coming for Ks

by STUART AMOS

samos@london.newsquest.co.uk

Met Police may have seen their FA Cup run come to an end on Saturday, but striker Allan Tait has warned league rivals Ks this is just the beginning of their season.

The 31-year-old former Kingstonian striker netted the club's first ever FA Cup first round goal with seven minutes remaining, but it was not enough as League One Crawley Town held on for a 2-1 win.

Tait, Crawley's leading goal scorer in 2005, switched to Imber Court earlier this season after leaving Kingsmeadow, but has found his opportunities limited behind loan star Jonte Smith.

The Blues are 17th in the Ryman Premier League, but have three games in hand on many of their rivals – including boss Alan Dowson's men.

And Tait insisted they had to build on their big day.

"We pushed a top five League One club all the way and more than held our own," he said.

"We've probably got another 36 league and cup games to go. This really should be the beginning of our season now.

"We've made a decent start and had a good run in the cup, but that is over and we have to kick on from this."

Tait quit Ks in the summer having scored only seven goals in 52 appearances – including 28 as a substitute – for the Kingsmeadow outfit.

On the ball: Ex-Kingstonian striker Allan Tait scored Met Police's first ever FA Cup first round goal on Saturday, as Ks were losing 1-0 to Wingate & Finchley
SP70842

The Blues are his 12th club in a career that started in the Tottenham Hotspur youth team and, with Ks hosting Cooper's side on Boxing Day, he is well used to getting stick from opposition fans.

"It was nice to score, but some of their fans were shouting at me and I was thinking 'hold on a minute, I used to score goals for you'," he added.

"I only live 10 miles from Crawley and it is still a club that is very close to my heart.

"Things were a bit frustrating at Ks. I was in and out of the team and at my age I need to be playing regularly, so I left. I hope it works out."

SPORTSbrief

ATHLETICS: Kingston AC & Polytechnic Harriers came sixth at the Reigate Priory Relay Race on Saturday. James Robertson ran his team's fastest leg in 14 minutes, 38 seconds. On Sunday, Kingston's juniors enjoyed a hat-trick of Downs League wins in the U11s, U13s and U15s races. Sam Shaw won the U13s event in 12:32, while there were third place finishes for Neil Wellard and Darcey Bourne in the U15 and U13 races.

FOOTBALL: Boss Alan Dowson again rued his wasteful strikers as Kingstonian crashed 1-0 at home to Wingate & Finchley on Saturday. "I cannot believe the chances we are missing. It is phenomenal," he said. "You don't mind missing one or two, but when you miss four, five or six, you get under pressure." Ks host Brentwood Town in the FA Trophy on Saturday.

RUGBY UNION: Kingston slipped to a shock 29-7 Surrey One defeat at Old Wimbledonian on Saturday. They go to Uxbridge in the London & South East Junior Vase second round this weekend.

ROWING: Surbiton Olympian Moe Sbihi is among the elite rowers taking part in the Head of the River Fours race – between Mortlake and Putney – on Saturday.
